DESCRIPTION:
A 6-session Drawing workshop designed to introduce essential drawing skills. Each session contains a range of techniques involving measuring techniques and proportion control based on direct observation, culminating in a full-value drawing where students draw a still life as accurately as possible. The final session is a critique in which students and instructors walk through the strengths and weaknesses of the final drawing.

COURSE GOALS:
Students will be able to measure with their eyes to obtain proper proportions. Students will be able to compose the still life through basic compositional techniques. Students will be able to simplify objects into basic forms/shapes. Students will be able to use charcoal to create a sense of form and depth through careful line control and value application. Students will learn to use specific language to communicate visual decisions and discuss strengths and weaknesses in the final drawing.
